

and Platte County. In 1997 the Board of Trustees deemed that Blue River would be designated a Community College with locations in Blue Springs and Independence, Missouri.

I have been a strong supporter of the Metropolitan Community Colleges and the educational opportunities they provide. As Ranking Member of the Intelligence Subcommittee for the Homeland Security Committee, I previously secured $400,000 in federal funding for first responder training at the Western Missouri Regional Police Academy at Blue River Community College. Since 9/11 we have become cognizant of the importance of well trained first responders for natural disasters and threats of terror.

Mr. Speaker, please join me in congratulating the Metropolitan Community Colleges for their continued growth with the addition of the Campus Center Building at Blue River Community College. The college provides a resource that impacts economic growth by educating a work force equipped to solve future problems.

HONORING DETECTIVE SERGEANT BRAUN AND DETECTIVE BALDWIN

HON. RUSH D. HOLT

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 9, 2004

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to recognize the bravery of two law enforcement officers from my district whose heroic acts will be honored by The National Association of Police Organizations at their annual TOP COPS Awards on Saturday September 11th.

While all of our nation's law enforcement officers deserve recognition for their invaluable and often unnoticed service, the TOP COPS Awards pay tribute to those outstanding individuals who performed actions that went beyond the call of duty to protect the citizens of their community. All of the award recipients displayed extraordinary courage and resolve in bringing dangerous criminals to justice.

I am pleased to recognize and share the story of two individuals from my district that have received a TOP COPS honorable mention. In October 2003, the Somerset Medical Center contacted the county prosecutor's office concerning several unexplained deaths of their patients. Detective Sergeant Braun, son of a detective lieutenant and a law enforcement officer for 24 years, and Detective Baldwin, a law enforcement officer for 12 years, began to investigate the case and quickly identified 43 year old registered nurse Charles Cullen as a suspect. Cullen had worked at more than nine medical facilities for brief periods of time in the New Jersey and Pennsylvania area, all of which had recorded an inordinate number of unexplained deaths, many occurring during Cullen's shift.

Based on the evidence these skilled investigators compiled, an arrest warrant for Cullen was issued in December 2003. The innovative, unique and ethical interrogation techniques used by these veteran law enforcement officers, resulted in Cullen's confession. He admitted to taking the lives of more than 40 of his patients, 15 at the Somerset Medical Center alone, over a 16-year span.

Thanks to these two outstanding individuals, a killer targeting the most vulnerable of victims at our area medical facilities will be brought to justice. Their efforts in this case have forced health care facilities nationwide to re-examine the hiring practices for their nurses.

I commend the dedication and commitment of Detective Sergeant Braun and Detective Baldwin to solve this most tragic and heinous crime and extend my heartfelt gratitude to law enforcement officers across the country for their service to our communities.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO KEVIN SHAEFFER

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 9, 2004

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to an individual of remarkable courage who serves as an inspiration to many Americans. Kevin Shaeffer was the only survivor of his section at the Pentagon's Navy Command Center that was destroyed in the attacks on September 11, 2001. Kevin was severely wounded in the attack; and he has overcome many challenges on the long road to recovery. Kevin is a brave and dedicated patriot, and despite his wounds, has continued his service to his nation. I am honored to tell his story before this body of Congress today.

Kevin had been working for the Navy's Command Center for almost thirteen months as a junior action officer in the branch that dealt with naval strategy and concepts. Specifically Kevin was working on the final phases of a new service strategy for the Navy in the twenty-first century. At 9:43 a.m., Kevin's world was dramatically altered when the command center exploded in flames, blowing Kevin to the ground. He quickly rolled to douse the flames, and with the help of Sergeant First Class Steve Workman, made his way over flames and debris toward the daylight that came from the gaping hole that Flight 77 left in the Pentagon.

Kevin was placed in an ambulance and sent to Walter Reed Army Hospital to be treated for seared lungs and burns that covered forty-two percent of his body. On his path to recovery, Kevin was forced to endure intolerable pain, several skin graft operations, two heart attacks and multiple infections. He received the Purple Heart from the Navy for the wounds he sustained in the attack.

Kevin was discharged from the Navy while in the hospital, but vowed to continue in the service of this country. He found an opportunity to keep that promise by seeking an appointment to the 9/11 commission, charged with investigating the 9/11 attacks. Kevin has faithfully devoted his time and energies to the commission, and worked alongside the panel's members to develop a number of strategies for the government to consider to prevent such a terrible disaster from reoccurring.

Mr. Speaker, Kevin is a phenomenal individual who has prevailed in the course of disaster and tragedy. His tremendous courage and continued dedication to our nation certainly deserves the attention of this body and nation. I am honored to recognize his service. Thank you for all your hard work Kevin, and I wish you, your wife Blanca and your daughter Sophia all the best in your future endeavors.

MEMORIALIZING DR. CLIFFORD I. UYEDA

HON. MICHAEL M. HONDA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 9, 2004

Mr. HONDA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the achievements and the life of Dr. Clifford I. Uyeda, M.D., a dedicated human rights activist, pediatrician and a loving family man. Dr. Uyeda passed away of cancer on July 30, 2004 in San Francisco. He will be fondly remembered for his contributions to human rights and social justice issues, and for his service to the Japanese American community. Dr. Uyeda is survived by his wife, Betty Uyeda.

Clifford Iwao Uyeda was born in Olympia, Washington on January 14, 1917 to Matsutaro and Kimiyo Uyeda. He attended the University of Wisconsin and Tulane University medical school. During the Korean War, Dr. Uyeda served as an Army doctor and as a captain in the United States Air Force.

In 1953, Dr. Uyeda moved to San Francisco where he worked as a pediatrician at Kaiser Permanente for more than twenty years. In addition to touching the lives of countless children and their families, Dr. Uyeda was committed to human rights, social justice and service. He was active in many medical and community organizations and served as editor of Nikkei Heritage, a quarterly journal.

After retiring from medicine in 1975, Dr. Uyeda turned to full-time activism. In an era when the United States government did not recognize the grievances of its Japanese American population, who had been disenfranchised during the Second World War, Dr. Uyeda was instrumental in fighting for their rights.

During his tenure as president of the national Japanese American Citizen's League, Dr. Uyeda helped push for a federal Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Citizens, which eventually led to a formal apology and monetary compensation for surviving internees. He was also part of the successful "Tokyo Rose" campaign to clear the name and reinstate the citizenship of Iva Toguri, an American who had been falsely accused of treason during World War II.

Dr. Uyeda was a proud advocate of Japanese American rights but, foremost, he was dedicated to social and historical justice. In 1998, he helped establish the Rape of Nanking Redress Committee to raise awareness about Japanese military atrocities committed during World War II. As president and member of the National Japanese American Historical Society, he was determined to seek and disseminate the truth, even if it was painful or incriminating.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to mourn the loss of Dr. Clifford Uyeda. His commitment to human rights and social justice has left an indelible mark on the countless individuals he helped over his distinguished lifetime. He will be fondly remembered by his family, friends and members of the local and national communities he worked so passionately and unselfishly to serve.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO MILTON DIAL

HON. SCOTT MCINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 9, 2004

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Milton Dial, a talented and dedicated Deputy Associate Director of the Department of the Interior's Minerals Management Service whose service will be missed upon his retirement. In this capacity, Milton has been responsible for the oversight of natural resources transactions between the Federal Government and the industry. Milton has been a faithful servant of the Department of the Interior and steward of our public lands for 32 years, and I am honored to recognize his accomplishments before this body of Congress and this Nation.

Milton received both his bachelor of science and masters degree in business administration from Arizona State University, and immediately began working as a supervisor auditor for the Inspector General's office from 1971 to 1979. He later moved over to the mineral management division where he has served in numerous positions such as deputy conservation manager for offshore royalty with the U.S. Geological Survey, senior technical advisor to the associate director, chief of the Royalty Compliance and the Valuation and Standards divisions, and manager of the royalty in-kind program at Minerals Management Service.

Mr. Speaker, Milton Dial is an industrious public servant who has always gone the extra mile to make sure that the job is done quickly and appropriately. I, along with my fellow Americans am indebted to him for his dedicated service to the management of our public lands. It is a privilege to recognize his efforts before this body of Congress and this Nation. Thank you for all your hard work, Milton, and I wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

DISABLED VETERANS TRANSITION ASSISTANCE ACT OF 2004

HON. C.A. DUTCH RUPPERSBERGER

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 9, 2004

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, Mr. HOYER, Mr. JONES of North Carolina, and I are honored to introduce this bipartisan legislation to help our severely wounded soldiers returning home from the field of battle.

With the number of U.S. military deaths in Iraq moving past 1,000 this week and over 7,000 servicemen and women wounded in combat, we believe Congress must act now—before we leave in October—to help these heroes and heroines. Many of these surviving men and women now face the daunting task of rebuilding their lives with severe disabilities—soldiers who have lost a limb, been blinded or lost an eye, suffered a disabling brain injury, or disfiguring burns or wounds. They have served their country without question honorably and bravely, and they deserve our help now to transition back to civilian life as they work to put their lives back together.

This simple and straightforward bill would work quickly and appropriately to address the needs of our wounded troops. First, it honors all servicemembers in each of the U.S. Forces with deeds as well as words by helping them when they need us most. Second, it honors the Army and Department of Defense for recognizing this critical need and initiating the Disabled Soldier Support System (DS3) program in April 2004. The current program provides the Army's severely disabled soldiers and their families with a system of advocacy to assist them as they transition from military service back to civilian life. DS3 has been able to step in to advocate for soldiers and their families by working with government agencies to resolve pay, benefits, entitlements, and care issues. We applaud these efforts and believe with adequate resources they can continue to help more wounded servicemembers.

Third and most important, this bill expresses congressional support for the DS3 program and extends the same assistance to all wounded Soldiers, Marines, Sailors, Airmen, Coast Guardsmen, Guardsmen and Reservists. We believe that the Congress must adequately fund the DS3 program and expand it to include all branches of the service since all branches have served this Nation in harm's way.

While both the Department of Defense and Veterans Affairs have voiced their support for this program, DS3 is currently staffed by only 10 people and has a budget of only $1 million dollars. This bill would give the Secretary of Defense the authority to correct that by providing the reprogramming authority necessary for adequate staffing to assist the number of wounded servicemembers returning from overseas. This bill would also designate an executive agent within the DoD with the authority and responsibility to carry out the program in coordination with the Secretary of Homeland Security for all U.S. servicemembers with severe disabilities.

What these soldiers and their families must face as they return home is unimaginable to most Americans including many of us in Congress. We are a grateful Nation for all our brave men and women in uniform do to protect the very freedoms we enjoy each and every day. How we treat these new veterans as they return home will be a great test to this generation, and we believe this is a small program that can make a huge difference.

This bill has been endorsed by the National Association for Uniformed Services (NAUS), the PAV, DAV, VFW, AMVETS, and the Military Officers Association of America (MOAA), and has the support of over 40 other military and veteran organizations. We urge the leadership in both Houses on both sides of the aisle to bring this bill to the floor quickly for passage and send it to the President to be signed into law in the next few weeks. With so many severely wounded in the system now, we cannot wait for a new Congress. We urge our colleagues to act now.

CONFERENCE OF MAYORS CALLS FOR ADDITIONAL SUPERFUND DOLLARS

HON. BARNEY FRANK

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 9, 2004

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, as the representative of a district which contains a number of abandoned industrial sites, I have a particular interest in the Superfund program. Sadly, the priorities of the congressional majority and the current administration do not include Superfund, and as a consequence, this important environmental clean-up program has been denied the resources needed to meet the promise we have made to many American communities.

In my own district there are three Superfund sites on which I have worked hard, and where we have made some progress, but where inadequate funding threatens to deny the people of the city of New Bedford and the towns of Fairhaven and Norton the full environmental response to which they are entitled by federal law.

This is a problem of national scope, as evidenced by the fact that the United States Conference of Mayors, one of the leading voices for sensible public policies in our country, recently passed a resolution at its 72nd annual meeting in Boston calling for "increasing appropriation levels for Superfund." The resolution notes the slowdown in remediation that is taking place because of the preference for tax cuts for the wealthy over important public needs, and urges us to increase the Superfund appropriation by $300 million a year for the next 5 years.

This is a very well informed and important statement from a group of thoughtful public officials who share with us the responsibility for public policy in this country, and I ask that the Conference of Mayors' very cogent resolution be printed here.

INCREASING APPROPRIATION LEVELS FOR SUPERFUND

Whereas, the Environmental Protection Agency has developed plans, designs, and records of decision for the remediation of large hazardous waste sites, many of them located in or near urban areas; and

Whereas, such plans, designs, and records of decision were developed at great cost and over many years, in close consultation with local and state governments; and

Whereas, EPA and its state and local partners have fielded teams capable of remediating such sites; and

Whereas, because of inadequate funding, actual performance of the agreed upon remedies has been put on hold, or slowed down; and

Whereas, because of inadequate funding some large sites, such as New Bedford Harbor, in New Bedford, MA, have been put on a 26 year cleanup schedule; and

Whereas, such a stretched out remediation is likely to greatly increase the ultimate cost of cleanup to the federal and state governments; and

Whereas, such a stretched out or delayed cleanup schedule is likely to undermine the feasibility of selected remedies, necessitating a new and expensive planning and design process in the future; and

Whereas, such delays perpetuate the public health and environmental threat posed by such sites; and

Whereas, delays in cleanup impose severe obstacles to economic development in many cities; and

Whereas, the money needs of many of the largest sites, which have been in the system for many years, have created a blockage in the system, interfering with EPA's ability to list new sites or to perform remedies at smaller sites; and

Whereas, the problems presented by large sites that are ready for construction can be resolved through an increase in appropriations for Superfund of $300 million a year for the next five years; and
